

FIRST FRUITS, DIOCESE OF NORWICH, TEMP.
HENRY VI. AND EDWARD IV.

TRANSCRIPT OF THE ACCOUNT ROLLS OF JOHN DE LOPHAM, COLLECTOR OF FIRST FRUITS, IN THE DIOCESE OF NORWICH,
FOR THE ARCHDEACONRIES OF SUFFOLK AND SUDBURY; TEMP.
HENRY VI. AND EDWARD IV.

Communicated by the REV. C. R. MANNING, F.S.A.

The following pages are transcribed from some vellum rolls, of which I have been allowed the use, containing a compotus of one John de Lopham, Collector of First Fruits to Walter Lyhart, Bishop of Norwich; together with the arrears of the livings vacant in the time of the previous collectors, Simon Thornham and Richard Docket. The larger part of the rolls relates to Norfolk, and I have not included these in the present paper. The account is arranged in eight columns, viz.: The Archdeaconry, the Deanery, the Benefice, the Incumbent instituted, the amount of First Fruits, the amount received, the amount excused (which is nil in these rolls), and the amount remaining due, which is, in by far the greater number of cases, the whole sum. Either the clergy grievously failed to pay their dues, or the collector was very lenient. The resistance made by the Church of England and by Parliament to the exactions by the Popes of Annates and Tenths is a matter of history. Bishopricks and Benefices were kept vacant in order that their emoluments might be appropriated; and promotions of the clergy were frequent, so that the income of the Benefice for the first year, or the "First Fruits," might be more often claimed. Moreover, Bishops and Clergy were nominated by the Pope to Sees and Livings long before they were vacant. The Statutes of Provisors and Præmunire and others were aimed against these and similar abuses. One passed by the Parliament held at Coventry, 6 Hen. iv. (1404), speaks of payments to the Court of Rome more for the First Fruits of any Bishoprick than had wont to be paid, as "le horrible malveise & damnable custume quest entroduce de novell en la cour de Rome." With this part of the subject, however, we need have no concern in the present instance. The See of Norwich possessed a privilege which no other Archbishoprick or Bishoprick in England, or perhaps in Christendom, enjoyed. The First Fruits paid by new Incumbents belonged to the revenues of the See, and not to the Pope. Pandulf, the Legate of Pope Honorius iii., consecrated Bishop of Norwich in 1222. (not for any spiritual qualifications apparently, but "being of a covetous disposition,") "while he was in Rome, being a cunning man, obtained a grant from the Pope, on showing that his See was in debt, that he and all his successors should have all the first fruits of the clergy of the diocese for their own, which they always enjoyed till Henry viii.'s time."* At the Reformation, it need scarcely be said, this tax was not removed from the clergy. A new valuation was made, and together with the clergy of the other dioceses, they had to make their payments to the Defender of the Faith. From that time to this First Fruits have been paid by every new Incumbent; but, as everyone knows, by good "Queen Anne's Bounty," they are now applied by the Commissioners to the augmentation of small livings.

I am not aware that any collectors' "compotus" of this kind has ever been printed. Indeed, I cannot hear of the existence of any other pre-Reformation rolls of First * Blomefield's Norfolk, iii., 682, iv., 547. A similar privilege appertained to the Archdeaconry of Richmond. Statute 26, Henry viii., Cap. iii., Sec. 6. 1 Eliz., Cap. iv., Sec. 2.

Fruits.* Possibly those of other dioceses, which were payable to Rome, were not preserved in this country; but there ought to be some of the Diocese of Nórwich in its Registry. The only mention of John de Lopham that I can find is that in the will of Bishop Lyhart he is left a legacy of £10.†

The chief interest to ourselves of the following lists consists in the enumeration of the names of so many new Rectors and Vicars. Every Incumbent was charged on his entering upon a living with a payment of his First Fruits according to the valuation then in use, which it will be found by comparison is lower than that of Henry VIII. in the "King's Books," the value of money having increased. There being no general lists of the Incumbents of parishes in Suffolk accessible in print, although each name would no doubt be found in its place in the Institution Books, it may be acceptable to the members of our Society to publish the following transcript of the MS. rolls, which present a tabular view of such clergy of the county as had been recently instituted to their livings at the time to which the accounts relate. Of the history of the MSS. I can only learn that they have been preserved at Bungay for upwards of forty years, and formed part of a recent sale.‡

* A list of the Records of the abolished office of First Fruits and Tenths, subsequent to the Reformation, is printed in the Appendix to the Twentieth Report of the Deputy Keeper of H.M. Public Records, pp. 92-94.

† Blomefield iii., 538.

‡ Since my transcript was made I am glad to say that the MSS. have been acquired by purchase by the British Museum.

* This is the usual formula for the restored reign of Henry vi. He reigned thirty-nine years to March 4, 1460-1, when he was deposed, and Edward iv. began to reign. He was restored October 9, 1470, and was again driven from the throne by the Battle of Barnet, on Easter Day, April 14, 1471; those six months being called the forty-ninth year of his reign, and the first of his restoration.
