It should be noticed that the chancel is rebuilt, and that Saints Anne and Katherine are often associated, that to St. Anne was dedicated the corresponding chapel to that of the Blessed Virgin, and that within the Lombardic T, after St., is a shield bearing circular flints, corresponding to the circles of the Pater Filius shield.

Tea was served at the "White Hart Inn," Blythburgh, and the party re-mounted and were driven to Blyford Church, where Rev. John F. Noott, B.A., read the following brief description:—

BLYFORD CHURCH.

The donative of Blyford offers a cordial greeting to the Suffolk Archæological Society, and, although she has not much to be proud of, yet there are a few features of Archæological and Ecclesiastical interest.

As a donative she forms a member of about 300 similar benefices scattered throughout the country, chiefly associated with, and attached to, ancient castles, manors, and proprietary rights.

It is difficult to arrive at a solution of their original foundation. Enquiry has been made at the British Museum for documents, of Ecclesiastical professors at Cambridge, and of an eminent Roman Catholic, but without success, it therefore became necessary to fall back upon tradition derived from an old fellow and tutor of Caius College, Cambridge, who was lord of the manor, patron of the benefice, and owner of a great part of the parish. After careful investigation he said "that the donatives were chiefly founded by a grant of the respective Popes to the various Lords, who agreed to build and endow their respective churches, and in return received the privilege of nominating and presenting their own priest, called the 'patrons donation,' without presentation, institution, or induction by the mandate of the Diocesan Bishop."

The original endowment was fixed at £20 a year, equivalent to £400 a year now.

It appears that the donative of Blyford was appropriated to Blythburgh Priory before the year 1200, temp. Henry II., by Ralph de Cricketôt, the Lord of the Manor, probably with a view of securing the services of one of the monks to sing mass and perform the ecclesiastical duties of All Saints donative.

But passing on to the building itself, dedicated to All Saints, there are several points of interest. The somewhat conventual form of the church, the north and south doorways evidently Norman, the Tower perpendicular, ancient Stoups and a recess for the processional paraphernalia, an interesting early English font, an early Decorated piscina, sedilia, &c., whilst near the pulpit was discovered the old staircase leading on to the rood, but blocked up by the authority of those who were responsible for the restoration of the church in 1875.

We must speak with bated breath in the presence of distinguished members of the society, and so, wishing you "God speed," we add "Et nunc circumpice."

A quick drive and the remaining place on the agenda, the site of Mells Church, was reached, after traversing a meadow and path and climbing a steep bank, members assembled within the ruins, where the Honorary Secretary read a summary of the paper by Dr. Gowers, which appears printed at length (page 334).

A vote of thanks to the Hon. Secretary for conduct of the excursion was carried by acclamation, and visitors were driven to the Railway Station, at Halesworth, in good time for the return journey.

Among the members present on this occasion were:—Mr. J. S. Corder, Mr. H. J. Wright, Rev. A. H. Hayes, Mr. R. M. Miller, Mr. H. C. Casley, Mr. Thos. Miller, c.e., Mr. R. E. Bunn, Mr. E. Barrett, Mr. E. F. Bishopp, Mr. Thos. Harrison, Rev. Dr. Haslewood (Chislet), Mr. Wm. Vick, Mr. Frank Brown, Mr. Geo. Abbott, and several ladies and friends.

RULES OF THE

Suffolk Institute of Archaeology and Natural History.

1. The Society shall be called the "Suffolk Institute of Archaeology and Natural History."
2. The object of the Institute shall be—
 1. To collect and publish information on the Archaeology and Natural History of the District.
 2. To oppose and prevent, as far as may be practicable, any injuries with which ancient monuments of every description, within the district, may from time to time be threatened, and to collect accurate drawings, plans, and descriptions thereof.
3. The Institute shall consist of Ordinary and Honorary Members.
4. Each Ordinary Member shall pay an Annual Subscription of 10s., to be due in advance on the 1st of January, and shall be considered to belong to the Institute until he withdraws from it by a notice in writing to the Secretary. A donor of £5 shall be a Life Member.
5. The Officers of the Institute shall be a President, Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, and Honorary Secretary, all of whom shall be elected for the year at the Annual Meeting.
6. The general management of the affairs and property of the Institute shall be vested in the Council, consisting of the officers, and of twelve members elected from the general body of the Subscribers, to retire annually, but eligible for re-election.
7. The Council shall meet to transact the ordinary business of the Institute, not less than three times a year. They shall have power to make Bye-Laws, appoint Committees and Local Secretaries, recommend Honorary Members for election by the Annual Meeting, supply vacancies that may occur during the year in their own body or among the officers, and to make arrangements for Excursions and other meetings. They shall also annually frame a Report and prepare the Accounts for submission to the Annual Meeting. At the Meetings of the Council, three to be a quorum, and the Chairman to have a casting vote.
8. The ordinary place of meeting shall be Bury S. Edmund's, but it shall be in the discretion of the Council to hold meetings at other places, if and when they shall think it advisable.
9. Each Member shall be entitled to free admission to the General Meetings of the Institute; and he shall also be entitled to the use of the Library, and to a copy of each publication of the Institute; but no copy of any such publication shall be delivered to any member whose subscription is more than twelve months in arrear.
10. The Annual Meeting shall be held in the month of April or May in each year, or at such other time as shall be fixed upon by the Council.
11. All papers presented to the Institute shall thereby be considered its property, and the Council may publish the same in any way, and at any time, that they may think proper.

REPORT, 1891—1892.

The Transactions of the last twelve months have given satisfactory evidence that the "Suffolk Institute of Archæology and Natural History" is carrying on useful work, in achieving the ends, for which it was established forty-four years ago.

The Council can once more congratulate the members upon the flourishing condition of the Institute. The hand of death has removed Bishop Harold Browne and Colonel Windsor Parker, two of our Vice-Presidents, and also Mr. William Brown, who invariably attended the meetings of the Council. Including these names nine members of the Institute have died, and eight have withdrawn: this loss has, however, been more than compensated for by the enrolment of twenty-five new members.

It is satisfactory to review the work of the past year. The excursion into West Suffolk, arranged by the Council for July, 1891, was successfully accomplished. Members met at Bury St. Edmund's, where vehicles were waiting to convey them to Rushbrooke Hall. A halt was made upon the route at Hawstead Church, where the Rev. Leslie Mercer gave a description of the fabric. This edifice proved of special interest to ecclesiologists as containing the sance, or sacring bell. This happily survived the period of the Reformation, and still remains in situ upon the rood-screen. The Church, like many others in East Anglia, was formerly thatched.

After a thorough examination of the sacred edifice within and without, a pleasant drive soon brought the archæologists to Rushbrooke Hall, which was very kindly thrown open to them for exploration by the owner and occupier, Mr. R. Wyndham J. Rushbrooke. This gentleman being from home, the Rev. Canon Tupper, the rector of the parish, welcomed all the members at the gates of the mansion. The old moated house and its pictures and tapestry were described by the Honorary Secretary, and the party then passed over the wooden bridge, and walked to the church. After a brief account of the same by Canon Turner, progress was made to Eastlow Hill, in the parish of Rougham, to inspect a Roman tumulus which had been opened about half a century ago, under the supervision of Professor Henslow. Most of the party entered the tumulus to see what remained of the loculus, &c., which was described by Mr. H. Prigg.

After dinner at the Angel Hotel, Bury, a passing visit was paid to the Gateway of S. Saviour's Hospital, which owes its preservation to the efforts of the "Suffolk Institute of Archæology," which made strong representations in favour of the interesting ruins being preserved, and a public subscription was subsequently raised for the purpose of enclosing the ruined gateway. The summer excursion terminated with a visit to Babwell Priory, where the tenant, Mr. Prigg, described the premises, and hospitably entertained the company.

By the kind permission of the Mayor (Frederick Turner, Esq.), an Evening Conversazione was held at Ipswich in October, 1891.

The members of the Institute and a large number of guests invited by the Mayor were present upon the occasion, when a good collection of drawings, prints, and photographs of Old Ipswich were exhibited in the Council Chamber. These were artistically arranged by Mr. F. Brown, whilst a room was set apart exclusively for Mr. Watling's exhibits.

A band was in attendance, and played selections whilst refreshments were being served during the interval allowed between papers read by— Canon Raven, F.S.A., on the "Church Bells of Suffolk"; Mr. J. S. Corder, on the "Timber-framed Buildings of Ipswich, and their Pargetting"; and Dr. J. E. Taylor, who made some remarks upon the "Saxon road through Ipswich." This closed an interesting evening meeting.

The financial position of the Institute enabled the Council to issue the third and concluding part of Volume VII. This part contained papers by ten different authors, and consisted of 147 pages, embellished by eighteen illustrations. The whole volume, with a general index, comprises, 404 pages, irrespective of a very full account of the transactions of the Institute.

It is believed that when the operations of the Society are more generally known and its usefulness appreciated, there will be a considerable increase in the number of members.

RULES OF THE

Suffolk Institute of Archaeology and Natural History.

1. The Society shall be called the "Suffolk Institute of Archaeology and Natural History."

2. The object of the Institute shall be—

1. To collect and publish information on the Archaeology and Natural History of the District.
2. To oppose and prevent, as far as may be practicable, any injuries with which ancient monuments of every description, within the district, may from time to time be threatened, and to collect accurate drawings, plans, and descriptions thereof.

3. The Institute shall consist of Ordinary and Honorary Members.

4. Each Ordinary Member shall pay an Annual Subscription of 10s., to be due in advance on the 1st of January, and shall be considered to belong to the Institute until he withdraws from it by a notice in writing to the Secretary. A donor of £5 shall be a Life Member.

5. The Officers of the Institute shall be a President, Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, and Honorary Secretary, all of whom shall be elected for the year at the Annual Meeting.

6. The general management of the affairs and property of the Institute shall be vested in the Council, consisting of the officers, and of twelve members elected from the general body of the Subscribers, to retire annually, but eligible for re-election.

7. The Council shall meet to transact the ordinary business of the Institute, not less than three times a year. They shall have power to make Bye-Laws, appoint Committees and Local Secretaries, recommend Honorary Members for election by the Annual Meeting, supply vacancies that may occur during the year in their own body or among the officers, and to make arrangements for Excursions and other meetings. They shall also annually frame a Report and prepare the Accounts for submission to the Annual Meeting. At the Meetings of the Council, three to be a quorum, and the Chairman to have a casting vote.

8. The ordinary place of meeting shall be Bury S. Edmund's, but it shall be in the discretion of the Council to hold meetings at other places, if and when they shall think it advisable.

9. Each Member shall be entitled to free admission to the General Meetings of the Institute; and he shall also be entitled to the use of the Library, and to a copy of each publication of the Institute; but no copy of any such publication shall be delivered to any member whose subscription is more than twelve months in arrear.

10. The Annual Meeting shall be held in the month of April or May in each year, or at such other time as shall be fixed upon by the Council.

11. All papers presented to the Institute shall thereby be considered its property, and the Council may publish the same in any way, and at any time, that they may think proper.

REPORT, 1892—1893.

In presenting the Forty-fifth Annual Report of the Institute, the Council have to congratulate its members upon its continued success. It maintains its number, and is at present in as flourishing a condition as at any period of its existence. There have, however, been several changes in the list of members; five have died, four have withdrawn, and twelve new members have been elected. Among those whose deaths we deplore are Mr. Henry Trigg, formerly Prigg, whose name has been associated with the Society for a period of thirty years, during which time he acted as Honorary Secretary, served on the Council, and contributed several papers to our proceedings upon various subjects, pre-historic remains being his special line of study. It will also be in the recollection of many that Mr. Trigg hospitably received the members at his residence at Babwell Friary, in the summer of 1891. Among those whom the Institute has also lost by death are the names of the Venerable Archdeacon Woolley and Colonel Windsor Parker, two of the Vice-Presidents.

Since the issue of the last Report, the first part of Volume VIII. has been published, containing 120 pages, the work of ten different authors, and embellished by eighteen illustrations, for the most part furnished very kindly by friends of the Institute.

The programme arranged by the Council for the summer excursion was successfully carried out on Thursday, July 7, 1892. As it was the turn to visit the Eastern part of the county, the neighbourhood of Yoxford and Sibton was selected. Members on alighting at Saxmundham Station were conveyed to Kelsale Church, which was described by the Rector, the Rev. G. Irving-Davies. Thence progress was made to Yoxford Church, of which the Vicar, Rev. Henry Parr, gave some account, as well as of some of the celebrities interred within the sacred edifice. Dinner was served at the "Tuns Hotel," Yoxford, where Dr. John E. Taylor, F.G.S., delivered an address upon the Relation of the Geology of East Anglia to Archæology. The next place visited was Sibton Abbey, which was demonstrated by Mr. W. H. St. John Hope, M.A. The remains of the Abbey, as well as some stone coffins exhumed, in close proximity to the ruins, and other objects of interest were carefully examined by the members, who then proceeded, on foot, to Sibton Church. Here the visitors were received by the Vicar, the Rev. John L. Mercer Moore, M.A. After a thorough inspection of the building carriages conveyed members to Dennington, where the Rector, Rev. George and Mrs. Castleden, received them upon the lawn, and offered them tea and light refreshments. An adjournment was then made to the remarkably fine church, which was described at length by Mr. Thomas E. Key, Architect, who had devoted much time to the study of the fabric. Thus concluded the day's programme. The large number of members present upon the occasion testified to the interest generally felt in the operations of the Society.

Members are invited to use their utmost endeavours to encourage the study of the Archæology of Suffolk; and, in the event of any discoveries being made in any particular locality, they are earnestly entreated to communicate with the Honorary Secretary, so that a record of such may be preserved, and duly noticed in the Transactions of the Institute.

RULES OF THE

Suffolk Institute of Archaeology and Natural History.

1. The Society shall be called the "Suffolk Institute of Archaeology and Natural History."
2. The object of the Institute shall be—
 1. To collect and publish information on the Archaeology and Natural History of the District.
 2. To oppose and prevent, as far as may be practicable, any injuries with which ancient monuments of every description, within the district, may from time to time be threatened, and to collect accurate drawings, plans, and descriptions thereof.
3. The Institute shall consist of Ordinary and Honorary Members.
4. Each Ordinary Member shall pay an Annual Subscription of 10s., to be due in advance on the 1st of January, and shall be considered to belong to the Institute until he withdraws from it by a notice in writing to the Secretary. A donor of £5 shall be a Life Member.
5. The Officers of the Institute shall be a President, Vice-Presidents, a Treasurer, and Honorary Secretary, all of whom shall be elected for the year at the Annual Meeting.
6. The general management of the affairs and property of the Institute shall be vested in the Council; consisting of the officers, and of twelve members elected from the general body of the Subscribers, to retire annually, but eligible for re-election.
7. The Council shall meet to transact the ordinary business of the Institute, not less than three times a year. They shall have power to make Bye-Laws, appoint Committees and Local Secretaries, recommend Honorary Members for election by the Annual Meeting, supply vacancies that may occur during the year in their own body or among the officers, and to make arrangements for Excursions and other meetings. They shall also annually frame a Report and prepare the Accounts for submission to the Annual Meeting. At the Meetings of the Council, three to be a quorum, and the Chairman to have a casting vote.
8. The ordinary place of meeting shall be Bury S. Edmund's, but it shall be in the discretion of the Council to hold meetings at other places, if and when they shall think it advisable.
9. Each Member shall be entitled to free admission to the General Meetings of the Institute; and he shall also be entitled to the use of the Library, and to a copy of each publication of the Institute; but no copy of any such publication shall be delivered to any member whose subscription is more than twelve months in arrear.
10. The Annual Meeting shall be held in the month of April or May in each year, or at such other time as shall be fixed upon by the Council.
11. All papers presented to the Institute shall thereby be considered its property, and the Council may publish the same in any way, and at any time, that they may think proper.

REPORT, 1893—1894.

THE Council in presenting its Forty-sixth Annual Report, has pleasure in congratulating the members of the "Suffolk Institute of Archæology and Natural History" upon its increasing prosperity. The numbers have been maintained, and several gentlemen are seeking election. Amongst those whom the Institute has lost by death is Mr. W. W. Hodson, whose ready pen furnished the valuable papers on Sudbury, which have appeared in the Proceedings of the Society.

The "Suffolk Institute of Archæology and Natural History" has, since the issue of the last Report, been enrolled amongst the Societies in Union with the "Society of Antiquaries of London." This, among other privileges, gives the members of the Institute, the privilege of consulting the Library at Burlington House.

The Council having considered the advisability of insuring the Books, Manuscripts, and Book-cases, &c., against Fire, unanimously agreed to effect a Policy with the "Alliance office" for £500. This prudent course will, doubtless, be approved by members generally.

In accordance with the hope expressed in a previous Report, considerable progress has been made with the Inventory of the "Church Plate of Suffolk." Though the work, which such an undertaking necessarily involves, is very considerable, satisfactory progress has already been made, two Deaneries having been completed and printed, whilst others are in a state of forwardness.

The summer excursion arranged by the Council to be made into the neighbourhood of Clare, on June 22, 1893, was successfully accomplished. Members and their friends met at Clare Priory, the grounds of which were kindly thrown open by Mr. John Rand, and the ruins described by the Rev. Henry Jarvis, M.A. A visit to the old town of Clare afforded members ample opportunities of exploring, not only its fine Church, but also several remarkable specimens of carved work and pargeting, found on the various buildings of the place. Many members were glad of the opportunity of visiting the town, on account of the historic fact that it gave its name to the Earls of Clare, and to the County in Ireland, as also to the circumstance that the title of Duke of Clarence, and Clare College, Cambridge, are derived from the town of Clare.

At the church members were welcomed by the Rev. J. Harrison, the curate, in the unavoidable absence through illness of the Rev. R. Sorsbie, the vicar. The chief features of the church were pointed out by the Honorary Secretary. After dinner had been served at the ancient balconied hostel, known as the "Half-Moon," conveyances took members on their journey to carry out the rest of the programme, the first halt being made at what was anciently a wayside chapel, now known as "Chapel House," about a mile from Clare. This pre-Reformation structure still retains unmistakable traces of Norman and Early English work. The next place visited was Poslingford Church, where again Norman work is conspicuous in the remarkably fine door with tympanum. Rev. H. Jarvis, the vicar, gave a lengthy description of his church, and exhibited drawings of a fresco of the last Judgment, discovered during certain restorations of the fabric some years previously. Pursuing their journey members arrived at Thurston Hall, an excellent example of the domestic architecture of the seventeenth century. Within a very short distance of this manor house is that of Swan Hall, likewise in the parish of Hawkedon. The building, now a farm-house, is very picturesque, the gable being ornamental, and bressumers carved. Upon resuming their seats in the carriages members were driven to the old house of Overhall. This mansion, a portion of which only now remains, was the ancient home of the family of Cavendish. The old house, which adjoins the rectory garden, is now the property of the Rev. R. G. Peter, who kindly threw the premises open for inspection, and also cordially welcomed members to afternoon tea upon the lawn. The Honorary Secretary, before leaving the grounds, accorded a vote of thanks to the Rector and Mrs. Peter for their hospitality. The church was then visited. It was in the chancel here that the remains of the unfortunate Sir John Cavendish were interred, after his murder by the populace in 1381, upon the insurrection of John Raw, when the Archbishop of Canterbury, Simon de Sudbury, was likewise beheaded. Cavendish Church was the last place visited, and thus the excursion terminated.

As to the publications of the Institute, part 2 of Volume VIII. was issued to members before the close of 1893. Its bulk is rather larger than the previous number, containing 180 pages of letter-press, and embellished by thirteen well executed photo-blocks. Numerous letters have been received from members expressing their satisfaction with the Part.

In the next issue, which will complete the volume and contain an Index to the whole, it is proposed to make further progress with the "Church Plate" of the County, and other papers by various authors being in hand, there is at present every hope that the interest of the Transactions of the Institute will be sustained.
