

BRONZE AGE POTTERY FROM SUFFOLK— AN ADDITIONAL NOTE

By NORMAN SMEDLEY, M.A., F.S.A., F.M.A. and ELIZABETH OWLES, B.A.

Examination of the collections in the Ipswich Museum has revealed a small number of sherds which were not included in our previous paper.¹ They are now described and figured in order to render the record more complete.

All the specimens came from the site, now occupied by a housing estate, of the Dales Road Brickfield (TM/155463 approx.).

EARLY BRONZE AGE

1650 B.C.—c. 1400 B.C.

1. Fragments of a food-vessel (Fig. 77, a), including one good rim-sherd, were recovered in 1937 from the Dales Road Brickfield, north side.

The vessel (I.M. 1937-191.B.1.) is in coarse brownish-buff ware, with flattened (slightly concave) rim, and a diameter of 6 inches. The angle of the wall would seem to indicate a probable height of $4\frac{1}{4}$ inches and a base of $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches, approximately comparable with the food-vessel from Warren Hill, Mildenhall,² in the Moyses's Hall Museum at Bury St. Edmunds. Horizontal raised cordons at one inch and 2 inches below the rim, and the outer edge of the rim itself, are decorated with vertical or slightly oblique cuts made with a flat blade rather than with the finger-nail. Between the rim and the first cordon appears a circular indentation, $\frac{3}{16}$ of an inch in depth. This is probably one of a series of such decorations, but as no more are present the spacing cannot be estimated.

2. A small rim-sherd and another portion from a similar vessel (I.M. 1937-191.B.4), but in too fragmentary a state for determination of the decoration, also came from this site.

3. A rim of another food-vessel (I.M. 1937-191.B.5) (Fig. 77, b) was found near the same spot. This vessel was 7 inches in diameter, with a height calculated as approximately $3\frac{3}{4}$ inches, base $3\frac{3}{4}$ inches. The rim is somewhat flattened and slightly incurved. A flat cordon lies from $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch to one inch below the rim and is delimited by a line of horizontal finger-nail impressions above and below. The body is decorated with alternating rows of obliquely vertical finger-nail indentations.

4. Another sherd with similar decoration, but probably from another vessel, was also found.

There is not sufficient evidence to show whether either of these food-vessels was associated with either a cremation or an inhumation.

FIG. 77.—Additional sherds from Dales Road Brickfield.

EARLY MIDDLE BRONZE AGE

c. 1400 B.C.—900/850 B.C.

5. From the same site comes a rim-sherd of an accessory cup (Fig. 77, c), in very coarse greyish-buff ware, with simple rim. (I.M. 1937-191.B.3).

6. A very small fragment of a vessel with more rounded rim is also present. (I.M. 1937-191.B.2).

All the above specimens were collected and presented to the Ipswich Museum by the late J. Reid Moir, F.R.S.

The Dales Road Brickfield has proved a prolific site with a wide range of occupation. Even so it is somewhat surprising to find the present assemblage in such close association. It is unfortunate that no record exists of the stratification.

The map previously published³ gives the impression that food-vessels were confined to the west of the county. From this new evidence it would appear that the range may be extended into East Suffolk.
